

Flowchart game

The following diagram shows the flowchart of the game. At the beginning on the game the user decides which horse they would like to bet on. This decision has its consequence through the whole game. The chosen horse is always highlighted so that the user should not be confused. When the race is finished and the scores are presented the user can decide if they want to go further to see their points or play again.

